

Through years of traveling I visited many interesting places, some of them are very special, magical, strange. I feel very fortunate that I had opportunity to be there, photograph and now share some of those photos.