

Human Kind, we come and go, we build and destroy, we all are one, everything is linked, vastly connected with the daily life of everyone and the fate of the human race lays in our hands. Through those photographs I would like to share fractions of our lives.