

Human face is probably most complex creation of nature, be it young or old it is fascinating how much those wrinkles covering whole face or just tiny corner of eyes, expression, smile, sometimes shy look can tell us. I had privilege to capture those portraits and here I share few of them.